

HOW TO DO A BIBLIOGRAPHY

The bibliography is a list of all the sources of information used. It should be on a page by itself and should be the last page in the report.

Below is information along with examples on how to write a bibliography.

If you use a BOOK. (citing more than one book, list alphabetically by author's last name.)

Author's last name first, first name. Title of book capitalize properly and underlined. Place of publication. Publishing company. Copyright date.

EXAMPLE – Clark, Jane. Frogs of North America. New York, New York. Scribner and Sons. 2013.

If you use an ENCYCLOPEDIA.

Article title in quotes. Author if listed last name first, first name. Title of encyclopedia capitalize properly and underlined. Copyright date.

EXAMPLE – "Bears". Brown, Jesse. World Book Encyclopedia. 2015.

If you use a PERIODICAL. (Magazine, newspaper, pamphlet, etc.)

Article title in quotes. Author, if listed, last name first, first name. Title of periodical capital properly capitalized and underlined. Place of publication. Publishing company. Date of publication (month, day, year).

EXAMPLE – "Solar Cars". Day, Sunny. Car World Report. Austin, Texas. Quickdraw Publishing Company. November 14, 2014.

Interviews: Name of person interviewed and date of interview.

If you use a web site include the www. address.
